Lilley rejected Harlin’s view and the Brisbane Courier reflected his opinion:

Sir Charles Lilley played an important role in the establishment of Brisbane Grammar School in 1868 and Brisbane Girls Grammar School in 1875. He believed that education was a right for everyone and in 1873 gave a speech to Queensland Parliament about the rights of women to have a secondary education.